Dear Participant,

In 2011, the U. S. Department of Labor (DOL) issued new fee disclosure requirements that continue to remain in effect for employers who sponsor retirement plans. The disclosures are intended to provide you with information outlining any fees that are being applied, or which could be applied, to your retirement plan. It is important to note that these fees are not new and that all retirement plans have fees.

The disclosures are solely for your information. No action is required on your part. Since providing disclosures to you is an annual requirement, you should expect to receive them each year. Further, should there be changes to the fees related to the retirement plan an additional notification will be sent to you prior to the changes.

If you have any questions, please contact me directly if you would like to have a hard copy. You may also contact plan vendors at the numbers listed below.
